Attempt: regular

Course of defence: The student presented her bachelor thesis, its topic and main goals. She talked about the motivation behind her case selection, the analytical approach and the main findings of the thesis. The commission asked about whether the duty talked about is legal or moral. The student responded that her argument is normative and its a moral duty. The commission presented the thesis review of the supervisor and the opponent. The commission asked about the applicability of student's argument outside of Germany. The student talked about the human rights charter of EU and its relation to other western European countries (i.e. the applicability of the argument to those countries). The commission asked about the potential duty to intervene in Ukraine. The student said that the war justifies an action but a concrete action can't be specified.
