

ABSTRACT

The submitted diploma thesis aims to find what students at the selected primary school in the Karlovy Vary region are aware of and attitudes about selected concepts and stereotypes associated with gender and feminist values. The case study method used to achieve the goal, which contains both qualitative and quantitative methods. Specifically, it is a method of the questionnaire survey, the respondents of which are pupils of 8th and 9th grades. The semi-structured interviews are also used, they are made with selected teachers who have the opportunity to pass the issue on, also with the principal and the school's psychologist. To complete the data, a content analysis of the educational plan of a selected primary school. The work may reveal new aspects regarding the perception of attitudes to gender issues, which could be hidden in a large city or another environment.

KEYWORDS:

gender, school, case study, elementary school, attitudes