

Abstract (in English):

The diploma thesis entitled Education for values in children and youth from socio-culturally disadvantaged backgrounds deals with the education of Roma children. The work describes the integration of children into the mainstream of education and their upbringing. Furthermore, the work describes the practice of schools in the integration of Roma children into society. The theoretical part deals with the education of the Roma and the approach of parents to the education of their children. The research part of the diploma thesis is focused on the experience of schools, the experience of a social worker who has been working with Roma families for a long time and the work presents a vision of a project that motivates students to complete secondary education. The experience of a social pedagogue and a regular primary school is an interesting statement about how to work effectively with Roma children. The experience of a Romani social worker is a valuable statement about Romani families and their way of life. The thesis describes the problems of Romani families, which are often caused by the low education of Romani parents, and who would need their support in the field of education of their children. The diploma thesis deals with the issue of Roma education and the creation of equal opportunities for Roma children.
