The bachelor's thesis is going to examine causes of a defeat of Cracow Uprising for national independence of Polish state, chiefly a failure of Polish insurgents' endeavour to obtain a support of Galician peasantry for their cause. The thesis is going to focus on the analysis of Polish insurgents' political program, with the main attention dedicated to its solution of the agrarian question and the social status of peasantry, and afterwards will clarify the key causes of the failure of establishing a cooperation with the peasantry. The aim of this thesis is to present the ideological program of Cracow Uprising and to describe the circumstances leading to its failure. The information and documentation of the thesis will be based on the study of published sources and relevant professional literature, primarily of Polish provenance.
