

This bachelor thesis deals with the phenomenon of English Palladianism on the Catherine's the Great court, which is mainly associated with the architect Charles Cameron. Based on Charles Cameron's most significant works, it is to study the connection between The English period of architecture and Russian classical architecture.