Church of the Guardian Angels in Veselí nad Moravou

This former monasterial church of servits order originate from the ages 1714–1764. The church is one of the most valuable monument in Hodonín's region. It attract by its high roof with a small towers and by very first-rate baroque architecture. The bulging began built by a married couple Maxmilian and Maxmiliana Želečtí from Počenic, who owned rule in Veselí nad Moravou. The church was consecrated in 1739. From the artists, who part in its anterior first-rate decoration we know only Jan Jiří Schauberger, an author of the side altars, and brilliant vienner painter Franz Anton Maulbertsch, an author of a great behind-altar picture. There was also sculptor from Brno, Andrew Schweigl. Under the church are in the crypt buried the members of servits order, founder of church and monastery and Chorinský family.
