

The bachelor work deals with manifestations of bullying in the secondary school youth in Jičín. It is divided into a theoretical part (general) and a practical part (research investigation). In the theoretical part I elucidate the problem of bullying, its causes, forms, types, and also its development. To clear up the manifestations of bullying, it is necessary to alert you to those participating in bullying, especially to aggressors and their victims. In the last chapter of the theoretical part I devote myself to prevention (what a teacher and parent can do against bullying). In the practical part I establish the occurrence of bullying, student awareness of bullying, and who the students trust. This investigation is carried out by means of questionnaires filled out by second-class students from three secondary schools in Jičín. I analyse the individual questions in the questionnaire-type of investigation and I work out a table for each question with an interconnected discussion. In the conclusion of my bachelor work I resume the results of the investigation and suggest a solution.
