

ABSTRACT

My bachelors work is focusing on offensive standard situation in soccer, in particular its realisation and its succes. My analysis is based on watching recorded women's soccer matches in first czech women soccer league.

This bachelors work is composed of two main parts – the teoretical part and research section. Teoretical part is focusing on teoretical terms, which are rules of soccer, gaming systems and standard situation. In research section I dealt with the way teams are pitching game situations, the place that standard situations are played from the most often, which player is usually starting the standard sitaution, which player is usually ending the situation, if the standard situations end in goal or not and mainly, how are particular realisation of standard situations succesful, all that in first czech women soccer league. Informations from my bachelors work can be used by coaches for analysis offensive standard situations individual teams of first czech women soccer league and coaches can choose suitable tactic for realisation of offensive standard situations.

KEYWORDS

football, league, standard situation, attack, women

