

The main purpose of my study was to describe special kind of relation between God and his nation. There were not people at the very beginning who started to create this relation with God, but just few extraordinary individual (desirable). With regard to wideness of my essay I decided to talk about this theme within the frame of Torah (five books of Moses): I am not dealing with domiciliation of Jews in Canaan in my study. Study is ended in the moment of conclusion God's pact underneath the Sinai (Ex 34). Texts are translated from Hebrew and equipped with structural analysis (exegesis).
