

Modular web content management system (thereinafter ModularCMS) offers the users an easy and simple way to create and manage their own website, from a simple personal presentation to complex and extensive company web. ModularCMS puts the main afford on the simplicity of user and programming interface, separating itself from other existing CMSs. The simplicity of user interface means, that if an end user orders a web presentation based on this CMS, after its deployment, he will be able to manage the content and do all the other actions he may need very easy and quickly. The architecture of ModularCMS is modular, it could be extended with other functions a project may need by programming new modules.
