

Bachelor thesis considers design and implementation of information system for rabbit breeders. System provides administration of evidence's records about rearing of rabbits of individual breeders. These records are merged to records of particular club of rabbit breeders, where they can be shared with others members of club. Records of individual clubs are evaluated and presented by web application of breeders association. System also provides printing of competent documents according to forms of Slovenský zväz chovateľov. All standards related evidence of rabbits is compliant with registration order of Slovenský zväz chovateľov.