The aim of this thesis is to create a program which generates layouts of furniture in a room on the basis of specific constraints. This program is called Spaceout and it is based on genetic algorithms. The thesis also gives a basic overview of existing programs for creating projects of interiors and exteriors. The thesis contains a programmer and user documentation of Spaceout.