

Summary

This Bachelor thesis is a study of the outdoor leisure activities of a Roma youth in Liberec region. Within the thesis, I focus on explaining the basic concepts related to leisure activities, outdoor leisure pedagogy and concepts related to low-threshold facilities. Furthermore, I present other possibilities of working with youth that could be used in the context of low-threshold facilities. The aim of my work is to find out whether outdoor leisure activities have a positive potential for working with Roma youth. As part of my research, I approached ten low-threshold facilities in the Liberec region, examining how the staff in each facility works with clients in the outdoor environment.