

Breast cancer is one of the most important tumor diseases of our female population. In his presence keeps sad victory. It also assessed a five-year mortality survival in comparison with other comparable countries unsatisfactory.

The thesis is mainly concentrating on the prevention breast cancer, both primary and secondary risk factors breast cancer and mammography screening.

In the fight against breast cancer is early detection is still a priority and increasing the effectiveness of treatment.