

In the present work we study a security of the AES cipher. We concern in a mathematical representation of a block cipher and how to use it to algebraic attacks. We show a summary of known algorithms which are useful for these attacks. We show how to convert problem of solving the system of polynomial equations to SAT problem and we describe how SAT solvers work.