

Abstract

This bachelor's thesis focuses on the election campaign of the presidential candidate Andrej Babiš before the second round of the Czech presidential election in 2023. It focuses mainly on the relationship between negative political communication, populism, and social networks, where the subject of the research are Andrej Babiš's posts on Facebook in the interim period between the first and second round of the presidential election.