Exegetical Approaches of Nicholas de Lyra in Postilla litteralis and Its Role in Christian Tradition

Štěpán Lisý

The present work studies variability in Nicholas of Lyra's exegesis in his Postilla litteralis and its role in Christian missionary activities among Jews and Muslims. Lyra's postilla is significantly influenced by commentary of Rabbi Shlomo ben Yitzchak. In Postilla litteralis there is a minor influence of commentaries of David Kimchi (Radak), Abraham Ibn Ezra and Raymundus Martini as well. Also in the study the author examines the impact of Postilla litteralis on later scholars and existing numerous manuscripts of Lyra's works in Bohemian and Moravian lands.
