Course of defence: The student introduced her thesis - main argument and approach. The thesis was unsuccessfully defended previously. Both supervisor and external reviewer recognized the thesis was partially improved, however, couple of weak points have remained. The supervisor suggested that theoretical framework is missing (or at least not explicitly and well elaborated), methodology is not very clear. The external reviewer raised a number of comments. Besides the supervisor's comments, the reviewer suggested that argument is neither structured, nor sound; also pointed to weak usage of literature.
The student explained how she came about arguing her main point, but did not address the issue of method as such. However, she also highlighted what she improved since the previous version.
