

The abstract

This work deals with the origins of Czech social economy. Its aim is to discover whether some of its characteristics are to be found in the theoretical works of Czech economists from the year 1848 to 1948. As there is no definition of social economy in the Czech environment, it was necessary to employ the foreign definition according to the International Research Network EMES.