

ABSTRACT

- Title of the work: Footballgolf and its structure in the Czech Republic
- Goal of the work: The aim of this work is to create an overview of information about footballgolf and its structure in the Czech Republic, together with basic information about its functioning on the international scene.
- Method: Qualitative and quantitative research methods were used to obtain data. The official websites of the Czech and international associations served as a main source in this work. In addition, a semi-structured interview with the owner of a footballgolf field was conducted to provide information from practice.
- Results: The result of the work is a comprehensive overview of information about footballgolf, the description, among other things, of the sport itself, its history, rules, playing fields, organizational structure and tournaments. Information on the international scene also provide a comprehensible basis for orientation in this young sport and can serve as an introductory source of information for players, coaches, organizers and the public interested in footballgolf both recreationally and competitively.
- Keywords: Footballgolf; rules; organization; playing fields; tournaments
