

The bachelor thesis deals with nonverbal means of communication used by participants of a talkshow. I focused on the moderator and guests of the Czech television late night show Uvolněte se, prosím.

The theoretical part concerns the definition of nonverbal communication and the classification and description of nonverbal phenomena. The practical part deals with the interpretation of the concrete nonverbal phenomena, their deliberateness or unwillingness, the intention of the speakers and the effect on the recipients of the talkshow. In my thesis I tried to refer to the connection of verbal and nonverbal components and to the fact that the moderator uses various means of nonverbal communication according to sex and age of his guests.
