

The purpose of this thesis is to analyze the current state of access and usage of electronic resources at the Faculty of Social Studies at the Masaryk University in Brno. The first part introduces the Central Library of the Faculty of Social Studies which enables access to electronic resources for students and academic staff of the faculty. The next part contains description of the gateway of Electronic resources of the Masaryk University, and outlines the electronic resources accessible for the Faculty of Social Studies which are divided into separate type groups. The next chapter deals with promotion of electronic resources, reasons of their rare usage and suggestion for the improvement on the libraries' side. The following part is dedicated to electronic resource's promotion not only in the Central Library of the Faculty of Social Studies but in other Masaryk University Libraries too. The key part of thesis contains a questionnaire investigating usage of electronic resources at the Faculty of Social Studies, interpretation of its results and their conclusions.