

The presented thesis consist of two parts. The first part is historical, psychological, sociological and pedagogical view of feminism, media, gender and gender stereotypes. The second part contains proposition of my project, its realization, analysis and evaluation, didactical activities and sociological research.