

The diploma thesis deals with the questions of leading children to quality leisure time utilization. In the theoretical part, it defines the experts' opinions concerning this topic. It analyses individual subjects having any relationship with children during their childhood and influencing their leisure time. It focuses mainly on the primary school teacher's influence. The empiric part probes the extent the schools and especially the primary school teacher's use for leading children to quality leisure time utilization. Further it covers with the field of children's participation in the activities concerning their leisure time.