

In the first part, my work is covering family, „sibling constelations" including family situation with one child. Also touches interpersonal sibling relationships and their variable factors, concerns the phenomena of relationships between siblings of the same parents and adopted ones. Second part, contains quality research using „dialogue method" (interview) with six full siblings from three different families. The goal was to recognize specific sibling relationships concernig family constelations and trace what factors and to what extent influence these relationships. As conclusion of my work I evaluated siblings positions and their positive and negative impact on personalities of children and their relationships. Specific factors as the age difference between siblings, polarity of genders and the role of parents are highlighted.
