

The object of following graduation theses is to create a syllabus of class meetings. These meetings should increase the level of familiar relationship between pupils and induce the fellow feeling of the class group. The project is focused on support of classroom forming as a social group and on improvement of positive social relationship of pupils attending primary school. Based on the result of realising project and reflective notes from all meetings is made the analysis of positive contribution for the class. The project helps as well to define problematic areas of similar projects through the teachers reflection and to understand sensitive sites of the work with class group for young teachers.
