

The dissertation thesis has focused on the strategy of care of gifted and talented pupils in Slovakia. Based on the analysis of present situation we have monitored schools for gifted pupils, basic school classes for such children and these children in Slovakia and mainly in the Nitra region. Žiakov.

We have been looking for the different types of care of gifted children amongst teachers and students of basic and secondary school in Slovakia.

The study has compared different types of care for talented students and pupils provided by different educational institutions (State Vocational Education Institute, National Institute for Education, Slovak Youth Institute), non-state organizations and foundations.

Based on empiric research we formulated a proposal of the strategy of care of gifted and talented pupils, mainly during out-of-school activities (by example of Secondary school specialised activity)