

The theme of this diploma thesis is Substitute Family Care. In the theoretical part I deal with the progression of substitute family care from history to current legal standards of childcare. Then I deal with current overview of substitute family care and present its current form. The practical part shows important moments in the lives of surrogate mothers and gives an overview of the responses of children during the period of adaptation.