

The subject of this work is to project and implement a system for classification of certified electronic mail, based on rule acquired in certain mode of application. The main aim is classification of positive mail, not abstraction of ineligible mail. System will be implemented as interactive application worked with protokol IMAP4 with mail stored on server.