

Abstract

Title:

The Teamwork, Participation and Efficiency of young players in Mattoni NBL and European league teams.

Goals of the thesis:

The goal is to examine and analyze the participation and efficiency of young players in a team setting for Mattoni NBL teams and European league teams. Detailed statistics and other indicators of utilization were used to evaluate and consequently compare the participation and the efficiency of young players in Mattoni NBL and European league.

Method:

Analysis of documents (secondary analysis of primary data in statistics of each competition).

Results:

The results show, in which basketball league is the participation and the efficiency of young players on teamwork in regular season and play - off on higher level and consequently how is difference between these leagues.

Key words:

Basketball, Mattoni NBL, European league, young player, participation, efficiency, analysis of documents, secondary analysis