

The bachelor essay „Characteristic of the target group of the low-threshold institution on the example of the clients from club Vrtule“ aims to describe unorganized young people, who visit low-threshold institution Vrtule. It deals with young adolescent people, who are in the age 13 – 20, they don't have organized free time and they visit low-threshold institution – club Vrtule. In the first part of my essay I address to the definition of general notions. I describe notions: adolescence and factors, that they are responsible for development of the young man. In the second part I describe, what is it low-threshold institution and contacts work. There is described targeted group of the club Vrtule and how see it social workers too. Practical part contains results from questionnaire examination. By the help of checklist I located characteristic of the clients from club Vrtule. The goal is characterized the targeted group from club Vrtule. Low-threshold club for children and juvenile is a new type of a facility that specifies in free-time activities. Thanks to them, such a specific relationship between a client and a worker can develop and the substantial part of it is the trust. Passive young man is unaffected by negative factors between contemporaries on the street. Low-threshold institution Vrtule offers for young adolescent people safe place with workers, who are ready for young people to bear-lead to adulthood.