

Diploma thesis follows the approach to family education teaching through the eyes of the teachers and psychologists. The theoretical part offers a general view to a family issue through the perspective of psychology and sociology, deals with a teaching about family at an elementary school, compares approaches to teaching about families in contemporary Czech and Canadian curricular documents and teaching materials. The research part deals with the teachers' and psychologists' approach to teaching about family.