

Main subject of this graduation thesis is wireless network in basic schools in Czech. The main goal is contribute to spread using wireless networks on basic school. Proceeding goals are introduction with theoretical problems of wireless networks. Research shows that wireless networks are use by basic schools in Czech and shows calls for support in this theme. One of proceeding goal is example of using wireless networks in education. Entire part of thesis is application write in PHP.