

Author's first name and last name: Antonín Lokoč

Title of master thesis: Comparing of the results of the annual examination in physical preparation among air bases in the Czech Army in 2006 - 2008.

Department: Military department

Supervisor: plk. PaedDr. Lubomír Přivětivý, CSc.

Presentation year: 2009

Abstract:

Target of the thesis: Comparing of the results of the annual examination in physical preparation among air bases in the Czech Army in 2006 - 2008. The detection of decrease or increase in performance at the studied air bases in the given period. Identifying the reasons of unbalanced performance at the watched bases using our own query method.

Methods: In processing and evaluating of the annual examination results of the chosen bases in the period given, mathematical and statistical methods were used. To obtain the information about physical education of the staff there was used a non - standard questionnaire with both open and closed questions.

Results: The detection of the comparison results of the watched air bases in our specified period. Identifying different frames of reference at physical education of the staff at various air bases.

Key words: The system of military physical education, physical and psychological readiness of the soldier, movement skills, movement skills, sports performance