

The bachelor thesis is about disorders of temporomandibular joints. It focuses mainly on explication of the diseases that affect joint disc. It provides complete information about the etiology of the diseases and their clinical symptoms. The main aim of the thesis was to summarize information about treatment for those disorders. It has focused on conservative treatment, mainly on physiotherapy.