

The purpose of the thesis of the author Iveta Dřimalová titled Problems of teaching texts of pedagogy at secondary school of education is find out the current situation in the range of teaching texts and textbooks of education. Chapter One stresses the importance of teaching of pedagogy at secondary school of education and classifies this subject as a part of school system. The content of this subject and its realization in teaching is discussed from the didactic point of view. The attention is directed to the choice of teaching texts of pedagogy at secondary school of education and their specific aspects. Chapter Two deals with educational objectives. Further, this chapter deals with fundamental school documents and the didactic analysis of teaching texts. Chapter Three summarizes findings and analyzes them.