

The aim of this work is to present the level of environmental education in Czech Republic and to investigate the possibilities and limits of this education. In the theoretical part I implied the history and conceptions of environmentalism and environmental education (aims, content, laws, organizations). The practical section presents projects with ecological themes in the business sector (Eurest, spol. s r.o.).

A healthy environment is essential, not only for long-term sustainable economic development, but also for social stability. The state of the environment is one of the most significant indicators of the status of a society and the quality of life enjoyed by the population. Sustainable development is taken very seriously by the European Union.

Environmental priority of the Czech Presidency was the protection of human health and the environment.
