

The issue of this dissertation work is the problematic of a burnout syndrome appearance in nursing profession. It is mapping the risk factors in standard care and intensive care units