

Bachelor thesis "Why people watch broadcast news? "deals with factors, which influence ratings of main broadcast news of two chosen television chains, CT1 and TV Nova. The theoretical part names solutions related with factors which influence percentage of ratings of the main broadcast news of the chosen television chains. The practical part analyse semi-structured interviews focused on verification of named factors on spectators of chosen television chains. This thesis is the way, by which we should accept to research of television ratings