

Diploma thesis „The incorporation of the group of activist journalists in Protectorate Czech and Moravia“ deals with the circumstances that went along with the rise of Czech activist journalism. It outlines the political backwards in the protectorate and Europe. It contains the censorship instructions by which the German Nazis instructed Czech journalists and then the various approaches that Czech journalists took. It considers the journey of chosen Czech journalists to the beaten Poland and reportages they wrote after they returned. It contains biographies of chosen activist journalists and analysis of commentaries in four titles of daily press in period since September till November 1939.
