

The final project titled „Rendition level of first aid treatment in kindergartens“ focuses on questions in first aid delivered by kindergarten’s teachers.

The intent of this project is to discover and find out a teacher’s knowledge and skills in first aid delivery caused by the most common injuries, dangerous to life health situations and non injuries states at the preschool aged children which attend these kindergartens.

I have used a method of quantitative research (a question form) and qualitative research (an experiment) for my project.
