

The aim of my study is the evaluation of transplantation diabetes treatment efficiency mainly from the aspect of metabolic graft function and its survival. It is focused on meaning of intravenous glucose tolerance test and contribution of patient education by transplantation coordinator in post transplant period.