

In this bachelor thesis we are exploring an occurrence of concerning human body phrases and idioms in a particular area of human head in Czech language comparing to Russian language. This material was acquired from CNK (český národní korpus - Czech national corpus) SYN 2005 and RNK (ruský národní korpus - Russian national corpus). We claim big alliance between the two languages, we are also noticing different frequencies in phrases. Following material can be used for translation or interpretation purposes.