

I would like to thank the following people who helped make it possible for this thesis to be completed. First of all, thanks to my supervisor at Charles University in Prague, Prof. PhDr. Martin Procházka, Dr.Sc., whose advice and experience added to a more concise focus in the work as a whole. Through his gentle guidance my intellectual powers were stretched. Also, I want to thank my friends and great Iowans, Lloyd Dunn and Mark Yates who provided me with their scholarly skills, candid opinions and endless optimism. Last but not least is my husband John, who contributed to the source of my interest in Midwestern U.S. History, and whose constant support and encouragement helped me finish this work.