

This bachelor thesis deals with the issue of care for people suffering from the Alzheimer disease in the Czech Republic. It focuses on the causes, treatment, prevention and the consequences that the Alzheimer disease imposes on the patient and also on the family and surroundings. I will try to describe the nature of the Alzheimer disease, its stages, care and treatment options for patients and the subsequent effect as closely as possible. The aim of this thesis is also to approach individual forms of treatment available for the patients with the Alzheimer disease in the Czech Republic.
