„Charity mission in the spectrum of social services in Havlíčkův Brod“

Author of this bachelor thesis shows that the mission of Charity services in the administration of Regional Charity Havlíčkův Brod has an irreplaceable position in the spectrum of social services in the town of Havlíčkův Brod. This is illustrated by using the detailed listing of social services provided by individual providers of social services in the Register of the Ministry of Labor and Social Affairs, which corresponds with actual situation and conclusions found in questionnaire survey among employees and clients of the Regional Charity Havlíčkův Brod and regional management representatives of other providers of social services. Brief summary of recorded knowledge can be noted that, in contrast to other providers of social services, the Regional Charity offers exclusive range of social services and pay attention to fulfilling the spiritual needs resulting from the mission Charity services as such. The author presents also some shortcomings and proposes options for dealing with them. Specifically, it is particularly on the issue of selection and training Charity employees, an area of cooperation between the Regional Charity and the local parish community, a full solution to the method of fulfilling the spiritual needs of clients and improving mutual communication and cooperation with other providers of social services in the city.
