

This thesis concentrates on an interesting group of paintings from Antonín Hudeček with figural motifs. However Hudeček was treated as landscape painter. His paintings with figural motifs were mainly painted in his beginning creation in secession period. The thesis considers reading in existing literature and makes an attempt to interpret these paintings. The research observes an artistic progress of Antonín Hudeček, Czech contemporary artistic scene and general context.