

For my bachelor thesis I have chosen the theme of „Education of employees at the Prague city hall.“ The main reason was that I am myself an employee of this institution. Therefore I was able to use for my work various internal materials, as well as to draw from my own experience. The text concentrates on the actual situation in the field of education and its forms in this institution.

However, education of employees at the Prague city hall is not very developed area, therefore I focused also on other fields in context. The text is divided into three major chapters – basic terminology, motivation and lifelong education.
