

This thesis tries to summarize theme of carnival and to define its evolution and its changes in the course of history. This thesis tries to find differences and also connection between the theatre and the carnival world especially as regards playing space, masks, costumes, reguises, borders between spectators end performers and convention. Thesis also documents three selected carnivals in Italy where the carnival elements are applied in the concrete cases.