

My diploma project is focused on the management of change in NGOs, especially those based on voluntary contributions. This project aims to prove that a professional approach to management can ensure that functional structures, processes and management are established.